

European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (EACCME)

Our Professional Courses in Practical Ultrasound are accredited by the European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education. EACCME is pan European body set up in 1999 by the European Union of Medical Specialties (UEMS), a non-governmental organisation representing national associations of medical specialists in the European Union and in associated countries. As we develop more programmes and courses, we will apply for their accreditation accordingly.