Agency agreement with Tenet Health Edutech Private Limited

Advanced Medical Simulation Online Ltd, the Research & Development and Medical Education company, is pleased to announce that it has appointed Tenet Health Edutech Private Limited T/A Cliniminds on an exclusive basis to identify and introduce Prospective Students for the Company in India.

Advanced Medical Simulation Online aims for excellence in its teaching activities and will purpose its R&D projects to feed into education, thus enhancing the learning experience. The Company delivers its distance learning educational programmes through its subsidiary, Medical and Educational Academy. Our courses inspire and encourage curiosity and creativity in our Learners, and excellence in their clinical practice.

Tenet Health Edutech Private Limited trading as Cliniminds has determined by way of market research that there is demand in the Indian market for the E-Learning Courses offered by Advanced Medical Simulation Online and that there is no similar competitor programme of the same quality and content in the India. Cliniminds has a large number of contacts, and can meet further contacts, throughout India who may be interested in purchasing the E-Learning Courses from the Company.

Nazar Amso, Director at Advanced Medical Simulation Online, said:

"This is an important milestone for our business in bringing our distance learning programmes to the Indian subcontinent. Our products fulfil educational needs of key healthcare professionals thus enriching patient care. We look forward to developing this collaboration further in the months and years ahead."

Kamal Shahani, Managing Director, Cliniminds said:

The Company's programs would fill the void in the Indian distance and eLearning markets in the areas of ultrasound specialities, reproductive medicine, and applied surgery. Students from India would immensely benefit with Advanced Medical Simulation Online interactive knowledge-oriented programs."
